Tyrone's debut album "Heavy labor, no breaks", speaks on subject matters from work, spirituality to the daunting task of positively raising a family in the perils of the inner city through a "blue collar working man's perspective". The album was favored by critics and received great reviews from columnists and fans alike. With collaborations with DJ Topspin and bay area legend Rich Tycoon; the album is well rounded, to be entirely wrote and produced by Tyrone.

Top40-charts mission is to create closer bonds in the music industry between companies, artists, and fans; creating a service dependent upon the mainstream music channels, to separate the 'noise' of today's music charts from the real, sales-driven, people-created charts. Based in New York City, Jango is a social music service that lets you create and share custom radio stations, playing the music you want legally and free. Rhapsody is a digital music service that lets you listen to whatever you want, wherever you are, without paying per track. Rhapsody's membership plans allow listeners to as much music as they want without limits.

Tyrone's discography and client list speaks for itself, with album credits of all genre's, and commercials for all types of products, plus movie scoring; the artist / musician is well on his way to being a sought after music producer. Catch Tyrone on the "Seattle Injection: Dose of Dope tour" with The Essence, Tape and DJ Kuhnex in early spring. Check www.tyronesmusic.com for music, discography and tour dates.
